Students Create Newspaper on the Roaring Twenties!

By Mr. Groven

This project will be done in place of a major test on the Roaring Twenties.

Your assignment is to create a newspaper covering the Roaring Twenties.

It is imperative that you do the work assigned to you by your group. You will receive a group grade, despite how much or how little one member or many members contribute. If you have any problems in your group you need to speak to Mr. Groven immediately.

Your newspaper will cover the entire decade of the 1920s (up to October 28, 1929). Everything needs to be written as if you were writing in the 1920s. You will need to use your text book and do outside research. Pictures and graphics are encouraged. You may present your newspaper in two ways. 1) Use publisher and print it on 8.5 x 14 paper 2) use word – it is less powerful and little harder than publisher but you may have more access to it. This is a large project and will be worth 200 points.

Today's Historical Steps

By Mr. Groven

- 1) Pick a group of 4-6 students – be careful!! The fewer the students the more work each has to do, but the larger the group the harder it is to coordinate schedules
- 2) Choose an editor – an editor puts the articles together and has to come to Mr. Groven if a reporter is not meeting his/her deadlines. The editor also writes one article.

- 3) Choose a graphic designer – a graphic designer needs to find all the pictures/art to go with each article. They find comics and advertisements of the era. The graphic designer also writes an article.
- 4) 2-4 reporters – they decide which articles to write and what style to use. If you have fewer reporters you will have to write more, but if you have more reporters it will be harder to coordinate schedules.
